1. Club Operations Executive Summary

Northbridge FC is a fictional Premier League club based in Bristol, England. The Club's operating model separates corporate governance, football operations, commercial activity and stadium operations while maintaining shared executive oversight.

The Club finished seventh in the Premier League in 2024/25 and qualified for European football. This sporting progress sits alongside a £204.0 million revenue base, a major three-year stadium redevelopment and an increasingly international commercial operation.

Northbridge uses a modern sporting-director structure. The Sporting Director has strategic responsibility for football operations and provides continuity across recruitment, first-team football, academy development and the women's football pathway, while the Head Coach has day-to-day responsibility for first-team sporting performance. This broadly reflects the modern Premier League operating model, where sporting directors commonly oversee the wider football strategy while head coaches focus on the first team. ^[cite turn0search9]

The wider organization includes finance, legal, commercial, people, communications, supporter services, community, safeguarding, data protection, stadium operations, medical and performance functions. The objective is to allow specialist teams to operate independently while sharing information through defined reporting and escalation channels.

Decision-making model

Operational decisions are delegated to functional leaders within approved budgets and policies. Cross-functional decisions are escalated when they affect multiple departments, material financial commitments, legal exposure, safeguarding, sporting strategy or Club reputation.

The CEO coordinates executive priorities, while the Board retains oversight of major strategic decisions and material risks.

4. Football Leadership & Coaching Structure

Name	Position	Primary responsibility
Adrian Mercer	Sporting Director	Long-term football strategy
Daniel Ashford	Head Coach	First-team performance

Samuel Okafor	Academy Director	Academy strategy and pathway
Helen Price	Women's Football Director	Women's football strategy

The Sporting Director model provides strategic continuity across football. The Head Coach remains responsible for first-team sporting decisions and match preparation. The separation is designed to prevent the club's long-term football strategy from being dependent entirely on the tenure of one coach. This reflects the general role distinction described by the Premier League when explaining modern sporting-director structures. ^{[cite]turn0search9}

B. Player recruitment

Scouting identification → sporting assessment → data/performance review → financial assessment → legal due diligence → negotiation → contract execution → registration → onboarding → performance integration.

C. Major operational decision

Issue identified → responsible department → cross-functional impact assessment → Finance/Legal/Safeguarding review where relevant → executive decision → implementation → monitoring → post-decision review.

D. Matchday escalation

Incident identified → operational command structure → safety/security assessment → relevant department response → executive escalation if material → communication → resolution → incident report.

9. Internal Communication & Escalation

Situation	Primary route
Routine department matter	Department head

Safeguarding issue	Safeguarding Lead + appropriate escalation
First-team sporting issue	Head Coach + Sporting Director
Major stadium incident	Stadium Director + COO
Reputational crisis	CEO + Communications Director
Board-level matter	CEO → Board

Clear escalation is important because a Premier League club is a multi-function organization. The Premier League's own governance material describes minimum standards across areas including safeguarding, supporter relations, stadium infrastructure and academies, reinforcing the need for coordinated club-wide operations. 10. People, Culture & Working Principles

Northbridge's internal culture is organized around three stated values: Community, Ambition and Excellence.

Value	Operational meaning
Community	Represent Bristol, support supporters and contribute positively to society

Excellence	Maintain high standards in football and every supporting function

These values apply across football, commercial, stadium, corporate and community teams. The Club expects employees to act professionally, protect confidential information, respect supporters and colleagues, and escalate material concerns.

11. Equality, Diversity & Inclusion

Northbridge aims to embed equality, diversity and inclusion across employment, first-team football, academy operations, women's football, matchday services, supporter engagement and community activity.

This club-wide approach mirrors the direction of Premier League equality standards, which cover areas including employers, matchday operations, academies, first teams, community organizations and fan engagement. [\[cite\]turn0search2](#)

- Integrate European football requirements into scheduling, travel and performance planning.
- Continue developing the first-team and academy pathway.
- Improve cross-functional data and reporting.

Cross-document consistency

This report establishes the canonical fictional personnel universe for the General / Operations persona. Future Northbridge Operations documents should use the same executives, coaches and players unless a later dated document explicitly records a personnel change.

The report is designed to connect with the Financial Analyst and Legal personas. For example, Daniel Mercer can appear in football operations, wage analysis and player-contract documents; Adrian Mercer can appear in sporting strategy and recruitment documents; and the stadium and executive personnel can appear across operational, financial and legal records.

All people, roles, sporting details and organizational records are fictional. Real Premier League sources were used only to inform the structure of the organization and the general distinction between club functions.
